REAL NON-CANDIDATE

Romney Non-Stumps Western States

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. George W. Romney, one of the most widely traveled non-candidates of the year, set out yesterday on a seven-day Western swing still insisting he had not made up his mind about his political future.

Romney told a news conference the trip was a result "of the natural invitations you get as a result of Lincoln Day." He described himself as a non-candidate who had been placed in a unique position.

However, Democrats have labeled it a campaign tour to help the 59-year-old former automaker secure the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Republicans have said such a trip is necessary to give Romney opportunity to state his position on national issues and to give him exposure necessary to secure delegate support at the 1968 GOP National Convention.

"A lot of people expect me to deal with national issues as if I were in a national campaign," Romney told newsmen. "I'm not in a national campaign."

Asked if he was unhappy with the situation, Romney commented, "There is nothing I can do except recognize it exists."

Asked if he intended to make any policy statements on the Vietnam war, Romney said, "It might be interesting to wait and see."

"I have a very heavy schedule and will be asked a lot of questions on domestic and other matters," he said. "I expect to deal with them as I go along."

Romney said the trip came about as a result of requests by Republican governors in Alaska and New Mexico and Republicans in Utah, Idaho and Arizona for help with Lincoln Day fund-raising affairs.

"I simply combined them," Romney explained.

Name Missing

The name of Mrs. Harriet Morgan, director of nurses at Warren State Hospital, was inadvertently omitted from the caption of the picture in yesterday's edition relative to the discussion of the meeting on "the community and the mental health center" to be held here at a later date. Mrs. Morgan is also program director for the Warren County District Nurses.

Clarion State College registration for the spring semester totals 2,584, according to completed figures released. A total increase of about 100 is reflected over last year's admissions. Venango campus lists 312 and part-time registrants at Clarion campus totaled 194. At Venango, 28 registered for part-time and evening classes.

DEFENDS POLICIES

AFL-CIO Leader Swipes at Reuther

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A high AFL-CIO leader took the first open swipe yesterday at the barrage of criticism leveled by United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther.

"It's not what you say but what you do," President Paul Hall told his AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department in hitting back at organized labor's critic.

"Walter Reuther is certainly one of them," Hall told reporters later in denouncing critics of AFL-CIO foreign policy actions.

Reuther, in resigning earlier this month as an AFL-CIO vice president, said the U.S. labor movement needs to do more to help unions and workers all over the world achieve greater freedom.

"Certainly, the American labor movement has shown the highest degree of solidarity" in helping workers in other countries, Hall argued.

He said U.S. maritime unions, especially the International Longshoremen's Association, had been instrumental in "putting the pressure on dictatorship" by refusing to load ships from such nations.

Meanwhile, AFL-CIO President George Meany maintained silence on the dispute with Reuther, who has also sharply criticized the AFL-CIO and Meany's leadership on numerous other issues.

Many labor leaders gathering for the annual winter meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council believe Reuther intends to lead the 1.4-million-member United Auto Workers Union out of the 13.5-million-member federation.

In other action, the Maritime Trades Department set up a committee to investigate what it called the Labor Department's abuse of federal labor law as "a free-wheeling mechanism to harass the labor movement."

Hall received telegrams from several members of Congress, including Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, hinting at the possibility of a congressional investigation.

Hall charged the Labor Department with using the Landrum-Griffin Act, which governs union financial responsibility and election procedures, to bring pressure against unions involved in strikes.

Hall said the Labor Department had conspired with other federal agencies, including the Justice and State departments, in using the Landrum-Griffin Act to hamstring the labor movement.

AFTER THREE WEEKS

Apollo Death Ship Taken from Tower

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 1 death ship was lowered from the top of its Saturn I booster yesterday — exactly three weeks after a fire inside the craft killed three American astronauts.

For the next several days, the cone-shaped hulk — wrecked by the blaze that killed Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Chaffee — will be examined in detail by investigators probing to find out what caused the tragedy.

Black smudge marks were clearly visible on the heat shield at the base of Apollo 1 as a bridge crane overhead slowly lowered it from the top of its booster rocket, 218 feet above the ground, to a flatbed truck waiting below to take it to a building on nearby Merritt Island.

The darkest smudge marks could be seen around the center of the spacecraft's base and at one side, near the spot where astronaut Chaffee was seated when the tragedy occurred. The remainder of the spacecraft was covered with a silvery protective wrapping and nothing else was visible.

The Apollo 1's engine section, called a service module, and a tapered adapter section that acts as a spacer between the booster and spacecraft are both to be removed from the launch pad next week, probably Tuesday, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said.

As technicians gingerly lowered the 9,400-pound Apollo 1, a board of review continued searching for a cause of the fire. Sources said the board was tracing the path of the fire and analyzing metals to determine the amount of heat generated at different points in the spacecraft.

In a memorandum released Wednesday, NASA Deputy Administrator Robert C. Seamans Jr. said there is evidence that the fire may have had more than one phase, starting as a smaller blaze that erupted into an inferno.

Inside a building on Merritt Island, investigators planned to carefully disassemble components inside Apollo 1, comparing each one with components inside a similar spacecraft flown here to aid in the investigation.

DEATHS IN THE NATION

Smiley Burnette, Cowboy Actor

ENCINO, Calif. (AP) — A musical saw and an accordion boosted Smiley Burnette to success as a comic with Gene Autry and other Western film stars during a career in which he had made 171 pictures up until his death Thursday night.

Smiley, whose checkered shirt and tattered cowboy hat were familiar to thousands of theatergoers, succumbed to leukemia, friends said. He was 55 and had been under hospital treatment since Feb. 8.

During the heyday of Westerns, Burnette was one of the top money-making performers, appearing in the 1930s and 1940s with Autry, Rogers and others.

In recent years he appeared in television, most recently as the railroad engineer in "Petticoat Junction." He was fond of recalling how he met Autry, who gave him his first big chance in radio.

Thirty-eight years ago Burnette was performing with saw and squeeze-box for a radio station in Tuscola, Ill., shortly after finishing high school. One day he got a phone call.

"This is Gene Autry," a voice said. "Sure, and I'm Gen. Grant," Smiley replied.

Finally convinced, he heard Autry ask, "How much are you making at that radio station?"

"I'm getting $18 a week and getting it regular."

"I can pay you $35," said Autry. "Think it over and let me know."

"I've think it over," said Smiley, "and I'll take it."

After a long series of radio and personal appearances with Autry, Burnette made 81 movies with the star.

When television's impact impeded Western films, Burnette retired temporarily, then emerged for personal appearances. He wrote 353 Western tunes during his career and made innumerable appearances from refreshment stand roasts, in drive-in theaters and in shopping centers. At last he too joined the television clan.

Burnette was born in Sumnum, Ill., near Tuscola. His father and mother were ministers, but they indulged his early talent for entertaining. At 9 he could play 25 instruments, and 25 years later he had mastered 100.

Surviving is his widow, Dallas, and four adopted children, Stephen, 26; Linda, 26; Georgia, 24, and Carolyn.

Spy Center, USA

Headquarters is a modern concrete eight-story building, handsomely blended into the hills and pines. It could be a large hotel. People coming out are nattily attired Ivy League types with attache cases and leggy secretaries.

There are no signs, nothing to tell you where you are. You stop a passer-by. "Excuse me, what is this?" Again, that confused stare as if you'd walked up made and spoken Greek.

In town, there's no confusion. They call it "The Agency."

"We call it 'Over There,'" says a gift shop clerk. "When anyone works 'Over There' it means they work for the CIA. Everyone knows them."

At Jim Foster's Pizza Parlor, they call themselves Brown. "It's real rough sometimes," Foster says. "They all call in these carryout orders using the name Brown. Sometimes we have stacks and stacks of pizza orders for people named Brown who drive up in black cars."

Foster has a mural on his wall lampooning the CIA, a popular indoor sport around Langley. It shows various topical characters including Lady Bird Johnson planting a tree in the CIA yard and a spy in a trenchcoat, a spy kit under his arm, eating pizza.

"You know who the CIA guys are," said a liquor store salesman. "These types are swingers. You see their parking permits. You see those chains on their neck which hold identification tags. They ask for foreign liquors which only the CIA would know about."

The CIA lunches at a dimly lit restaurant with music and red tablecloths called the Pikestaff. Ask who all the men are, and the hostess says, "The CIA. They eat here all the time. Very big eaters. We'd be out of business without them."

DEFECTIONS ON INCREASE

Nearly 1,000 of Enemy Killed Since Ceasefire

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Major engagements also have accounted for 915 Communist dead since the Tet truce ended Sunday and Viet Cong are defecting at a record rate of more than 500 a week, U.S. authorities said yesterday. The war's tempo was up.

Capping a string of bloody operations in the wake of the truce:

—South Vietnamese armored troops shot up a column of Communists apparently retreating from a disastrous battle Wednesday with Korean marines near the central coast and said they killed 100. The Vietnamese, serving as a blocking force for Koreans and U.S. Marines in a drive called Operation Rio Grande, reported they suffered no losses.

—Across the country, a brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division counted 128 enemy dead from a two-day battle in the central highlands near Cambodia's frontier. One of the American companies suffered heavy casualties, however, and another was reported hit moderately Thursday by Communist mortar and automatic weapons fire.

—U.S. B-52 jets from Guam flew a record seven missions over a single 24-hour period and five of these were in support of the Americans in the highlands battle. The Stratofortresses returned Friday for two strikes at Communist targets near the coast, one 120 miles and the other 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Action dwindled in the highlands, where the 4th Infantry Division brigade keeps watch for Red infiltration from Cambodia on routes about 230 miles north of Saigon. Though fighting often centers near the frontier, Cambodia denies the Communists are using its soil as either a spring board or a sanctuary.

The U.S. company that suffered heavy casualties presumably would need replacements to continue as an effective fighting force. Such a company ordinarily would have 175 to 200 men. Just how many were hit was not disclosed.

South Vietnamese have reported killing 411 enemy troops, the Americans 261 and Koreans 243 in heavy clashes this week. The dozens of minor actions that regularly dot the countryside could push the total by Saturday midnight well above the normal weekly run of 1,200 or so.

The U.S. mission in Saigon announced psychological warfare operations geared to the Tet festival for the lunar new year attracted 3,456 Viet Cong turncoats from Jan. 1 through Feb. 11. This was nearly double the 1,822 who gave up in the same six-week period last year. Wooed by leaflets, broadcasts and traveling theatrical groups, the defectors were welcomed by South Vietnamese officials under the government's open arms program.

Karl Marx Common?

LONDON (AP)—If Karl Marx and his surroundings are historical, the building will stand. If not, it will be bulldozed for a park.

The issue is between Islington's Borough Council and the Greater London County Council. The Ministry of Housing, drawn into the dispute, will conduct an investigation.

The two-story building in north London houses the Karl Marx Library, his works and the output of other Communists including Lenin, who worked there when he was planning the Bolshevik Revolution.

Islington says the building is crummy, the space is needed because the borough is highly industrialized and has too little "green lung" space.

The London Council fought back with the argument that the founder of modern communism is historical, and so is the 230-year-old building.

The German-born radical, dead 85 years, probably would appreciate the argument, for he was constantly embroiled. His body is in Highgate Cemetery, London.

Pups Rescued From Deep Well Shaft

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The last of three pups which toppled into a 28-foot well shaft Tuesday was fished out yesterday—hungry, wet and muddy but otherwise unharmed.

Its two litter mates, a brother and sister, were pulled to the surface Thursday — one in a sling baited with food, the other in a noose attached to a long pipe.

The pups were taken to a veterinarian who gave them temporary distemper shots and dewormed them.

"The vet said they seemed to be okay and should get along fine unless they get distemper," said Avery L. Clark Jr., owner of the canines.

HALF WIND, HALF PUSH

Sand Yacht Race Held on Sahara

COLOMB BECHAR, Algeria (AP) — An international band of 24 yachtsmen, including three Americans, is sailing toward West Africa's Atlantic coast across 1,500 miles of the Sahara. The sailors, who set out from here Monday, take turns at manning a dozen sand yachts — single-place craft with three wheels, a mast and sail — which can hit 60 miles an hour when the wind is right.

Leaving in high spirits from this inland town near the Moroccan border, the sailors vowed they would go all the way to Nouakchott, Mauritania, on wind power alone. But they soon had to change their minds.

A stiff breeze which helped the land fleet on its way dropped after a few miles, forcing the yachtsmen to get out and push.

Col. Jean Duboucher, a retired French cavalry officer who is leading the expedition, relented and ordered the becalmed craft towed by nine Jeeps which are accompanying the sand yachts.

The capricious Sahara has more in store for the sailors, who already have faced drizzling rain and biting cold on the first leg of their month-long journey.

Sand storms, shifting dunes and the sweltering Sahara sun are regular features of the route, which follows the Moroccan border southward before veering west to the sea.

The yachtsmen are from six nations: Britain, the Netherlands, Denmark, France, West Germany and the United States. The Americans are Lawrence Pardley and Warren Ziebarth of Newport Beach, Calif., and Arthur Joseph, Costa Mesa, Calif.

Monique Gimel of France, European women's sand yachting champion, is the only woman on the run.

Latin America Offered Great Society Blueprint

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The United States has offered Latin America a blueprint for a do-it-yourself hemisphere "Great Society."

It covers education, technology, agriculture and health, and includes establishment of a Latin-American common market by 1980.

Key to the plan is U.S. insistence that the Latins reach the basic decisions and set the goals themselves with the knowledge that the United States will back them up.

The blueprint is part of a confidential State Department document titled "Annotated Agenda for the Inter-American Meeting of Presidents." It was distributed to the Latin-American governments recently through the Organization of American States.

Western Hemisphere foreign ministers are meeting here now to set a date and place for the meeting. Likeliest choices are mid-April at the beach resort of Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The document suggests that presidents "agree that the Latin-American countries should move forward more vigorously with modernization of education at all levels."

Extra foreign assistance would be given to "countries having made the most effective efforts of their own."

New techniques—including television—would be used to push education, with heavy emphasis going to the training of teachers and school administrators.

AND CENSURED

Powell Will Be Seated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A clear majority of the House committee investigating Adam Clayton Powell Jr. was reported yesterday to favor seating him with a stiff censure motion, probably including a fine or withholding some of his pay.

Although these thoughts have not wholly crystallized, most members of the select committee are understood to believe this is the most severe action it is practical for the House to take. A money penalty against Powell would be to cover government funds he allegedly converted to his own use.

To expel him, they feel, would make him a martyr and probably would mean the House would have to deal with the matter again if, as expected, the Harlem Democrat won a special election for his vacated seat.

Although the nine-member committee has taken no votes and reached no firm agreements on recommendations to be submitted to the House next Thursday, the general outlines of a consensus have emerged. But the situation is described as still fluid and subject to change when committee sessions resume Monday.

What concerns the members the most, reliable informants report, is the need for unanimity and a strong argument to persuade the House that the recommended action is both constitutional and the strongest practical penalty that can be imposed on Powell.

At the moment, a small minority of the committee still is reported to be holding out for a recommendation to expel Powell, but members on both sides of the aisle hold out the hope a unanimous decision can be reached.

Eight of the nine committee members are understood to feel the House could, if it wished, exclude Powell from his seat without even giving him the oath of office. But they are likely to reject this course for it could lead to a protracted court battle.

A move to expel Powell after he is administered the oath would require a two-thirds majority, while one to exclude him would take only a simple majority.

Members are pretty well agreed that stiff action is warranted against Powell on at least three counts: Evidence of defiance of New York courts in a long-standing and still-pending damage judgment case; audit reports indicating Powell and other staff members of the Education and Labor Committee often flew to Miami at government expense en route to his fishing retreat at Bimini in the Bahamas; and testimony by his estranged third wife that indicated Powell banked and spent without permission paychecks made out to her in a period when she was not working.

Mrs. Powell told the committee Thursday that the endorsement signatures on 19 checks totaling more than $26,000 in 1965 and 1966 were not hers, and that Powell had balked her efforts to go back to work or get off the payroll.

Gets Degree at Age 79

SPARTA TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — Fifty-eight years after graduating from St. Lawrence University in New York, Mrs. Helen I. Bay decided she wanted a master's degree in education.

So for two years, 79-year-old Mrs. Bay has driven alone the 36 miles between her home here, and classes at the East Stroudsburg State College in Pennsylvania.

When she rejoins her old classmates on the Canton, N.Y., campus of St. Lawrence University this June for her 60th annual reunion, Mrs. Bay will have an M.A. She receives her degree May 27.

"I'm having a wonderful time," Mrs. Bay said, "Because I'm the oldest student, they even help me up and down stairs."

"So far, I have four A's and five B's on my semester grades and I would say I was doing well considering the fact that memory is not so good at my age."

Mrs. Bay is a part-time assistant librarian at Sparta High School, a job she has had for three years.

"I wouldn't have any other job," she said, "I don't even want to be librarian, I couldn't handle it physically."

She added her degree won't really help her in her job except to qualify for a little more in salary.

"I just thought I'd finally go on and get my degree," she said.

AND FIZZLES OUT

Snowstorm Hits SE Pennsylvania

By The Associated Press Another snowstorm hit Southeastern Pennsylvania yesterday but it lost much of its expected punch.

Philadelphia had a little more than an inch of snow at 1 p.m., with up to three inches in some western suburbs.

Four inches or more had been forecast, but it stopped snowing by midafternoon. The forecast called for possible light snow last night and today.

Light snow fell in Lancaster, with the accumulation totaling less than an inch. Harrisburg also reported light snow. Temperatures were in the 20s in Allentown, but there wasn't any snow. It also was dry in Wilkes-Barre, where the sun shone part of the time.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the storm grew out of a series of low pressure areas over Alabama and Georgia. It moved northward Thursday night and reached Philadelphia shortly after 5 a.m. Friday.

Residents in many parts of South Jersey, however, weren't as lucky. Atlantic City was alerted for an 8-inch snowfall, are reported five by yesterday afternoon.

In Philadelphia and surrounding counties, the snow plagued thousands of inbound motorists on their way to work. Roadways became slippery and driving hazardous as the snow kept falling in sub-freezing weather. Some traffic snarls were reported in hilly sections, and scores of motorists were late for work, some as much as an hour.

Cinderling and salt crews were kept busy in Philadelphia as the snow emergency went into effect. This meant parking on many streets was banned. Some school closings were reported in Montgomery, Chester and Bucks Counties. These were mainly nursery and day schools and those for the handicapped.

Minor delays were reported on Reading and Pennsylvania railroad commuter trains.

The storm was the third to hit Philadelphia this month.

Kennedy Sets Talk On Policy

SYOSSET, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said yesterday he has a major Vietnam policy speech in the works. And he again voiced serious reservations about the bombing of North Vietnam.

"The war should be settled in South Vietnam at the peace table," Kennedy told a group of Syosset High School students, after a majority of them had expressed approval of increased bombing of the North.

There had been speculation that Kennedy plans to take the Senate floor for a dissent from the Johnson administration's Vietnam policies, even at the risk of an open break which could split the Democratic party.

However, in confirming to newsmen that he plans a major policy speech, Kennedy said: "It is premature to characterize it one way or the other." Kennedy said he probably would deliver the speech in the Senate within the next several weeks.

Earlier this week, the junior senator from New York said he regretted resumption of U.S. bombing in North Vietnam following the lunar new year truce.

During a visit to Long Island yesterday, a show of hands by 2,000 Syosset High School students showed most of them in favor of increasing the bombing in North Vietnam. Kennedy put a similar question earlier to 200 students at Friends Academy in Locust Valley, and the sentiment there also favored increased bombing.

Afterwards, Kennedy told the Syosset students that he has "serious reservations about the military effectiveness of the bombing of North Vietnam."

Power Employee Killed Near Silver Creek

SILVER CREEK, N.Y. — DeRonde VanTassel of Buffalo, a Niagara Mohawk Paper Co. employee, suffered fatal injuries yesterday when he was struck on the head by a tower while he was repairing damage attributed to Thursday's storm.

VanTassel was pronounced dead on arrival at Brooks Memorial Hospital in Dunkirk.

The crossbar which fell came loose from a temporary tower that was holding power lines over Route 20. The metal towers that normally hold the high tension wires had been toppled by the violent windstorm earlier this week. The victim was a member of the power company's repair crew working to restore service to the area.

A Good Start . . . Let's Go!

The Northwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning and Development Commission, the first of its kind in the state, seems to be off to a promising start.

There are certain admitted advantages in enjoying the pilot's distinction in any undertaking. You not only get the machinery into action before many other similar agencies get into operation but you have a considerable head-start in applying for needed funds before others. It is assuring to see that the Northwestern Pennsylvania Planning and Regional Commission is supplying the leadership this time.

Much credit should and must be given to County Commissioner Lewis Crippen, who has been one of the group's major leaders and who has spearheaded the all-important initiative in getting the commission off the ground. Crippen, who is the group's first president, also drafted the commission's by-laws to govern the agencies. And

Take Kosygin At His Word

Harold Wilson, speaking of his talks with Alexei Kosygin, has just said that last week end peace in Vietnam "was almost in our grasp. . . One simple act of trust could have achieved it."

What might such an act of trust have been? Presumably it would have been a statement or an action by Hanoi which signified that it would halt the flow of men and materials to the South. That would have been accompanied by an American order halting the bombing of North Vietnam.

This would have met the United States' official demand for reciprocal military action—something for something. Although it sounds as if Kosygin had, in fact, asked Hanoi to do something of the sort, Hanoi has not done so. This means that Hanoi refused to accept the Dean Rusk formula that any reduction of American military action in the air over North Vietnam must be complemented by a reduction by Hanoi of its military action on the ground.

Thus, military reciprocity is not now a workable formula for producing the negotiations which, the President, has so often insisted, is the immediate objective of our military actions. The question then arises whether military reciprocity is the only, the best or even the most practical and realistic formula to use in these preliminary discussions.

I think it is not. I believe that true reciprocity can be had only if, on the one hand, there is a general cease-fire—not only in the air above North Vietnam, but also in the air over South Vietnam and a cease-fire also on the ground and at sea. The other side of the equation, the counterpart to the cease-fire, would be a political negotiation to settle the future of Vietnam.

If words mean anything, the public declaration in London by Prime Minister Kosygin envisages just such reciprocity. He told the world last week that if there were a cease-fire in the air over North Vietnam "the way would be cleared to the negotiating table. . . to seek a way to a political settlement of the Vietnam problem."

Inseparably connected with this declaration is the proposal

Events Have Gone Full Circle

If famine in India today is very real, the long predicted famine in the United States has never materialized and probably never will.

Consumption of wood in our country today is very little more than it was 50 years ago when there were 100 million people.

Creeping suburban may seem to be gobbling up land at an alarming rate, yet approximately 70 per cent of the population of the United States lives on about one per cent of the land surface. It's hard to believe that such a trend will pose any serious threat to our major timber producing areas.

When I was in Maine in 1935 salvaging hurricane blown white pine, most of the salvaged timber came from abandoned farm and pasture land. The carefully built stone walls, that had once served as fences, had kept the farmers' livestock within bounds. But following farm abandonment, they had been powerless to keep out the forest that had crept like a glacier down from the hills. In the deep South, productive pine forests now cover former cropland that had served King Cotton.

In pioneer days, the forest was so vast that it became tion that the way would not be cleared if the suspension of the bombing were followed not by a conference, but by a reinforced invasion of South Vietnam or by greatly intensified terrorism in South Vietnam. It is not possible to suppose that Kosygin thinks there could be a conference to settle the political future of Vietnam without such a general cease-fire.

Therefore, in my view, we should take Kosygin at his word and should reply that we will suspend the bombing on the understanding that the Soviet Union intends to promote a conference.

This would be not only promising, but widely acceptable at home and abroad. It would also be a very strong position for the government to take. It rests on the assumption that, unless the contrary is proved, Kosygin is not deceiving us when in effect he promises a conference if the bombing in the North is suspended.

Even if Hanoi refused the conference and the whole gambit varied, such a position would not only validate the promises and pledges made by the President since his Baltimore address of April 7, 1965. The address was delivered shortly after the bombing of North Vietnam began and must be read as an official statement of our objectives in the bombing.

The formula of military reciprocity sounds a good deal stronger and tougher than in fact it is. For it is almost impossible to define military reciprocity when you have to compare guerrilla forces and highly organized professional forces.

One of the essential characteristics of this war is that the great majority of the fighting forces on the other side can disappear and reappear without our being able to keep close watch on them. What could be watched, what can be kept track of is bombing and gunfire; a violation of a cease-fire while a conference was taking place could not be concealed.

I have, of course, no way of knowing whether a policy which began by taking Kosygin at his word would be followed by a general cease-fire and a conference. The reality of things is very ornery indeed. But to take him at his word would still be the wisest course for us. For it would align our policy with our promises and pledges.

While the Democrats certainly will mount a registration campaign, it can in no way match the highly-organized Republican effort which places a tremendous reliance on the patronage manpower the Republican State Committee has at its command. In view of the Democrats' inability to forestall the organization's upset in last spring's gubernatorial primary, it is difficult to visualize any imposing effort in a registration drive this spring.

Shy of an imposing personality about which it can rally, the Democratic party must spend this Year of the Elephant shoring its bastions in the big cities and counties. Most certainly it will retain an overall lead in the majorities in the 51 largest cities—although an upset seems in the making in Philadelphia where Democrats are feuding and Republicans are marketing prospective candidates like soap. Elsewhere, with a majority of 28 to 23 in Pennsylvania's bigger town halls, only eight Democratic mayors face an election in 1967, while 13 Republican mayors are in the final years of their terms.

Yet Republicans are showing a quiet confidence. They are building party strength around the Shafer slogan. Their approach is neither flamboyant, nor cocky. They say they will pare down the Democratic statewide majority by 40,000 to 50,000 during the next month. Their timetable calls for a final push into the registration lead during the general election registration period next fall.

All this takes money, manpower and dedication. The Republicans have the first two, which breeds the latter, those by-laws have been so widely accepted that they likely will become the pattern for similar developments throughout the Commonwealth.

Fine progress in the way of naming some major committees and other preliminaries were recorded at this week's meeting held in Warren. What we now need is action and aggressive follow-up.

Too many of these setups become planners of planning—and unfortunately planners alone, without much in the way of action or productive results.

The Times-Mirror and Observer salutes President Crippen and other officers and leaders in their success to date. May their excellent start spur them to the great potential in practically all fields of promotion and constructive development, an aggressive, hard-working and determined organization of such kind and dedication can be realized in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

These are the conditions under which the Republican Party is mounting an impressive registration drive. It's no casual thing, this effort to slash into the existing statewide Democratic majority of 80,590. Republican mechanics have sat at the shrine of national GOP chairman Ray Bliss for more than a year now, learning the detail of his grass roots system. In the 30 working days between now and March 27, an army of Commonwealth patronage appointees will spread the gospel according to Saint Ray—"Build a Commonwealth of Excellence"—then ask for the order: Register now with the Republican Party, or switch to Republican.

As evidence that all is serene, progressive, and "excellent" under Republican rule, portraits of the governor are springing onto courthouse walls throughout the state. Gov. Shafer himself will shun meaningful tax discussions until April. An imposing advertising campaign is being energized at the local level. Key piece is an advertisement, to be imprinted with the name of the county committee and its chairman.

In this ad, the governor is pictured in shirt-sleeves, surrounded by four bright-looking state employees and asking, "Shouldn't YOU be in the picture?" It then urges the reader to "Become a Pennsylvania Republican and help Governor Shafer build a Commonwealth of Excellence." Local committees have been schooled in the techniques of radio spot advertising, buying billboard space, ringing doorbells and making phone calls. For the outstanding registration worker in each county, there will be a day in Harrisburg as "guest" of the State Legislature, lunch with the lieutenant governor and a handshake and an individually-pose picture with the governor.

more than half a century. To those with the "forest primeval" concept, this second-growth may seem a poor substitute for the virgin forest about which Longfellow wrote. They forget, though, that the "forest primeval" was not a second Eden. Fire, disease, windthrow and other catastrophes plagued the virgin forest before the white man ever set foot on these shores.

Second-growth forests, under intensive management, can be even more attractive than the virgin forest. Here the forest manager does not have to practice "tree geriatrics" that frustrating attempt to keep alive trees that have long passed their prime, as at Hearts Content Scenic Area on the Allegheny National Forest.

If the fuse can be taken out of our population explosion so that man cannot by sheer weight of numbers force the forests off the land, there will never be a timber famine in the United States.

It will not be necessary to wait for two centuries for trees to mature. Today, technological developments can make little trees as valuable as big ones for many purposes, and forest genetics will produce fast growing trees of superior quality.

Year Of The Goat

HARRISBURG — The Chinese have just had a New Year's celebration and, from their viewpoint, we're in the Year of the Goat. In Pennsylvania, meanwhile, we are in the year of the Elephant. Politically, this is the year the offices in 67 courthouses go on the line. This is the odd-numbered year the country politicians show the state organizations how it's done. This is the year a host of county commissioners renew associations in remote farmhouses and in general stores at crossroads they've never heard of in the State Highways Department.

Republicans proliferate in the county row offices, on boards of commissioners, and in townships and boroughs. For more than a century the Party has dominated — by more than double — the number of public offices held across Pennsylvania. At the core of this network is the Courthouse elite, and this is the quadrennial election year when they roll up their sleeves.

In forty eight courthouses across Pennsylvania, the corridors and the offices are cool and lonely places for a Democrat. Often the minority commissioner is a stranger to his own Democratic county chairman. As a rule, he is hand-picked, and GOP committee people arrange for carefully-selected "bullet" votes. Vice versa in many of the 19 counties where Democrats rule.

These are the conditions under which the Republican Party is mounting an impressive registration drive. It's no casual thing, this effort to slash into the existing statewide Democratic majority of 80,590. ## The Intellectual War

(c) N. Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — When President Johnson was told that the Central Intelligence Agency's secret fund for university students was about to be exposed, he asked when the fund started (1952), and he wanted assurance that the fund had stopped.

His first impulse, in short, was to deal, not with the problem, but with the politics of the problem. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who has been critical of the C.I.A., was telephoned in Florida; Sen. William Fulbright, who has been critical of a lot of other things, was told privately what was coming; and the administration was especially careful to head off any public criticism by Sen. Robert Kennedy, who knew all about the fund when he was attorney general and therefore reacted prudently.

The problem, however, remains. It is that the Communist nations, and particularly the Soviet Union, are constantly trying to influence university leaders, labor union leaders, leading writers and other potentially powerful individuals of the coming generation all over the world. Thus, not only Mao Tse-tung and the other Chinese Communist leaders, but even Chiang Kai-shek, spent time in Moscow many years ago as part of Moscow's plan to communize China.

This battle for the allegiance of the coming leaders of the world has never really been faced openly and effectively by the United States government. Some funds have been voted openly for cultural exchange and student programs through the State Department, but Rep. John Rooney of New York, who presides over the State Department's appropriations, has never been enthusiastic about approving funds for this extremely important intellectual competition, and successive administrations have chosen to evade the problem rather than being candid about it.

That is to say, instead of facing up to Rooney and his powerful associates in the Congress with a very good argument, they evaded them by going underground to the C.I.A. with a very bad and deceptive device. Instead of educating the Congress on the hard facts of a very complex intellectual and political war, they chose instead to corrupt the leaders of the youth organizations, deceive the students, and mislead the Congress, the universities and the country. Not to mention embroiling the government's department of dirty tricks in home front efforts.

The reaction here to this exposed deception is interesting. The White House has stopped the funds and ducked. The State Department has issued an unctuous statement about protecting the integrity of students, and the liberals in the Congress have attacked the C.I.A.

But the C.I.A. is not to blame, Richard Helms, the director, and Cord Meyer, who presided over these programs for him, are high-minded men who were carrying out policies ordered from above. The surprising thing is not that they were caught, but that the C.I.A. got away with this for so long. It does not have the protection of an official secrets act, as in Britain. It has no British "D" notice to warn publications against printing sensitive information. It has a very large personnel turnover. It was confiding to new officers of the student organizations every year. It has been under sharp newspaper surveillance and university criticism, especially since the start of the bombing in Vietnam, and the leaders of the National Student Association went to Vice President Humphrey last year and urged him to find ways of getting open instead of secret funds.

Yet nothing was done until Boyden of Deerfield" (Academy, Deerfield, Mass.). It will cause you to do plenty of thinking about some modern educational concepts . . . We'll be seen' you.

the evidence was out, and even now the administration is neither correcting the problem nor coming clean. It is trapped in other confidences it has taken with other individuals and institutions in the labor unions, newspapers, press and radio of the world, where again its purposes may be laudable but some of its financial arrangements are vulnerable. And each future disclosure about these will be another drop of poison.

What has been needed for a long time, and what is still needed now, is a candid discussion of the problem of subversion, and congressional approval of a government-supported but privately administered institution that will defend the nation's interests in the intellectual communities of the world.

This is what the British have had for generations in The British Council, which provides funds to support a variety of British intellectual, social, and political interests. They get along very well over there with their comfortable falsehoods, and they are not above corrupting others, but at least they do not deceive or corrupt themselves.

Maybe something like this will come out of the present controversy here. Meanwhile, our only consolation is that we must not really be such a wicked people, because we run these secret conspiracies so clumsily.

With penalties, Niarchos's tax liability added up to a total $25 million, and the Justice Department's announcement gave the impression that the full amount would be collected. What wasn't mentioned was the fact that Niarchos's companies had secretly settled for a mere $1,468,002 and that the rest of the tax debt had been written off as uncollectible.

It had been also agreed that Niarchos could enter the country free of personal liability.

Small taxpayers, who have had their paychecks attached to pay back taxes, may get the impression that it helps to have friends in high places. They are right.

How Tycoon Settled

Tax Debt

WASHINGTON — Here are more facts on the manner in which the handsome Greek shipping tycoon, Stavros Niarchos, settled a $25 million U.S. tax debt for less than 6 cents on the dollar.

Niarchos had married shy Charlotte Ford in December, 1965, after whirlwind romance and after divorcing his first wife in Mexico. His first wife was the daughter of another fabulously wealthy Greek shipowner, Livanos, and the sister of Aristotle Onassis, owner of Greek shipping, Olympic Airways and, in latter years, the husband of opera singer Maria Callas.

Niarchos was 56 when he married Charlotte Ford in Mexico. She was 24, Mexico was as close as he would risk coming to the United States with the huge tax delinquency hanging over his head.

One of Charlotte's friends was Lynda Bird Johnson who, on her visits to New York City, often stayed with Charlotte. During one visit, Charlotte introduced Lynda to a handsome young movie actor whom Charlotte herself had occasionally dated. His name: George Hamilton.

Charlotte had campaigned actively for Lynda's father during the 1964 Presidential campaign and served as co-hostess at two high-society soirees to raise campaign funds for LBJ.

It was about the time Charlotte fell under the romantic spell of Niarchos that Lynda began dating Hamilton steadily. After the marriage, Niarchos and his new bride flew to St. Moritz, the Swiss winter resort, where it was reported Niarchos spent more time with his children by a previous wife than he did with Charlotte. But when she returned to the United States to have a baby, reportedly at the insistence of her father, Henry Ford II, Niarchos wanted to be on hand for the blessed event.

Suddenly, the Justice Department announced it had obtained a $16,582,000 tax judgment against six Niarchos-owned companies that had finagled an estimated $40 million out of the U.S. in one of the biggest shipping maneuvers of all times. Plus penalties, the $16,582,000 came to a total of $25 million. Niarchos had been indicted, but the indictments had been dropped in 1954 during the Eisenhower administration.

The Justice Department's explanation for the settlement was: "Both of these defendants (Niarchos and an associate) are fugitives from justice, and the government believes that there is no expectation of these defendants ever returning to the United States while these indictments are pending."

For ten years the golden Greek had stayed out of Uncle Sam's reach. But when the tax judgment was announced April 26, 1966, Assistant U.S. Attorney Laurence Vogel in New York went out of his way to add: "There is absolutely no tax claim against Mr. Niarchos personally."

A few hours later, Niarchos returned to this country for the first time in more than a decade. The accommodating Justice Department had made the deal just in time for him to reach his wife's bedside before the birth of their daughter. The settlement was finalized on April 26; Niarchos arrived in New York City the following day.

But there was one fact which the Justice Department did not announce.

With penalties, Niarchos's tax liability added up to a total $25 million, and the Justice Department's announcement gave the impression that the full amount would be collected.

What wasn't mentioned was the fact that Niarchos's companies had secretly settled for a mere $1,468,002 and that the rest of the tax debt had been written off as uncollectible.

It had been also agreed that Niarchos could enter the country free of personal liability.

Small taxpayers, who have had their paychecks attached to pay back taxes, may get the impression that it helps to have friends in high places. They are right.

Is Yours a Job Or a Vocation?

By FRANK BROYLES

Head Football Coach, University of Arkansas

Everytime I hear someone complain about being unhappy at work I want to say to him, "God has a vocation for you, but you'll never find it unless you seek Him out." And I can speak from personal experience.

I wanted to be a professional football player from the time I was 8 years old. I practiced every chance I had. I studied plays and went out for every team that would take me.

Then, after several good years of playing college football, the break came in my senior year. I was invited to sign up with a professional football team. The contract was for a salary that was bigger than anything of which I had dreamed.

The unexpected then happened. I also was contacted by a school and offered a position as a football coach.

The salary, however, was only a third of what the professional team had offered, and there were a number of potential headaches involved with the job. This was certainly not what I had dreamed of at all. It seemed an easy choice to make, but since I had been taught by my parents to pray about every decision, I paused and did this.

And the answer was not really what I wanted to hear. For God revealed to me that His plan for my life was to be a coach. My vocation was to help build men and in the process develop good football players. The example I was to use: Jesus of Nazareth.

I took the position as coach and today have that solid, deep-down feeling of satisfaction because I'm in the vocation I should be in.

Vocations that serve God, I'm convinced, are not limited to the ministry or other church-related careers.

I believe bricklaying, weather forecasting, clerking in a store and, yes, playing professional football also can be "God serving."

Whether you have a job or a vocation, in my opinion, depends on whether your emphasis is on what you take from the job—or what you give to it.

I'm sorry for the boy or the girl who picks a job simply for its monetary rewards. It will always be a job, never a vocation.

I'm sorry for the athlete who picks his career based on the size of the bonus.

All these individuals may spend the rest of their lives wondering about that "other" vocation, the one God might have shown them had they been willing to receive His help.

Sample Heads Cancer Drive In This Area

CORRY — George Sample,

editor of the Corry Evening Journal, has been named chairman of the American Cancer Society April Crusade in eight northwestern counties in Pennsylvania.

Ray Calabrese of Nescopek, 1967 Pennsylvania Division Crusade chairman, appointed Sample and eight other Crusade chairmen to coordinate Crusade activities in the 62 SCS units in the division.

Sample has been active with the American Cancer Society for many years. In 1965, he helped the society's crusade in Pennsylvania by personally writing the editors of all daily and weekly newspapers in the division asking them to support the work of the ACS.

In recognition of this effort in behalf of cancer control, Sample was given the Society's Citation of Merit in the fall of 1965.

Sylvania NMA Plans Second Course Here

Beginning Monday, March 6, the Sylvania chapter of the National Management Association will present a course entitled "Case Studies in Administrative Practices and Management Policy."

This course is the second in a series being offered to members of the local NMA chapter. The case method of study will be employed throughout the six-week session to expose participants to problems in developing and applying personnel policy. Emphasis will be on the development of an approach, or frame of reference, to problem-solving in human relations and management policy-making.

Registration will be held Monday, February 20, from 12:30 to 1 p.m., and from 5 to 5:30 p.m. in the engineering conference room at Sylvania's Second Avenue plant. In addition to enrollment, class participants will also receive course manuals and be issued a class assignment.

Classes will be held at the local offices of Sylvania in co-operation with the evening division of Jamestown Community College. Instructor for the course will be Edward A. Cherry of JCC.

Present indications are that approximately 25 Management Club members will take part in this course which will consist of six weekly two-hour sessions from 7 to 9 p.m.

The forerunner of this second NMA course was "Principles of Managing" which was successfully concluded by a class of about 20 persons last month.

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The stock market ended the trading week with another spotty performance yesterday. For the third session, price declines on the New York Stock Exchange outnumbered advances by 684 to 521. Volume moved at a relatively slow pace, edging up to 8.53 million shares from 8.49 million Thursday.

New highs for 1966-67 advanced to 42 from 32 yesterday but there were three new lows, compared with none on Thursday. The new lows were Hobart Manufacturing and the when-issued shares of International Telephone and J. Ray McDermott.

The roster of new highs included five of the most-active stocks—Thiokol, General Development, Control Data, Gulf and Western Industries, and Republic Corporation. The 15 most-active issues were stronger than the rest of the market with 8 advances, 6 declines and one unchanged.

The Dow-Jones industrial average fluctuated in a narrow range and closed with a loss of 0.72 point at 850.84. That left the average with a net loss of 4.89 points for the week and put it 10.13 points below the 1967 closing high of 860.97 on Feb. 8.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index rose 0.01 point today to 48.09, giving it a net gain of 0.22 point for the week. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index advanced 0.03 point, to 87.89, up 0.40 points for the week.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS SURVEY — VI

'KNOW YOUR COUNTY'

'Public Welfare' — The Rouse Home

The Rouse Home is located on Route 6 at the east edge of Youngsville. It is a private, non-profit institution which provides both nursing and domiciliary care for aged, indigent and other adults who are not able to care for themselves. In September of 1962 it was officially recognized by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare as a private institution, and therefore permits eligible guests to receive monthly grants from the Department of Public Assistance for their maintenance costs. It is a unique home in that it is the only private, non-profit institution within the state which offers its facilities to a county for such purposes. Many other counties within the state completely maintain and finance some institution for the elderly within their own jurisdiction.

1. What is the procedure for making investigations and granting aid?

Those people who wish to be admitted to the Rouse Home must meet certain requirements as set by the Commissioners of the Rouse Estate. No formal investigations are carried out by these three commissioners. However, the 70 per cent of the guests at the home presently receiving Dept. of Public Assistance grants are thoroughly investigated by the State Dept. of Welfare prior to receiving this aid.

2. What are the rules of eligibility?

1. Applicants must be residents of Warren County for at least 1 year.

2. Applicants may possess assets, real and personal, not over $500.

3. A patient may be admitted directly from a hospital for no more than 60 days recuperating period without declaring his assets.

4. A patient may own a residence if spouse or dependent child remains in same.

5. No admissions are refused because of sex, color, age or creed.

3. How many needy aged are being helped? Generally 120 guests.

4. Has there been a marked change in the number of persons receiving aid in recent years?

No. There has not been a marked change in the number; however, the type of aid has changed rather radically. In previous years the majority of cases were ambulatory and could assist themselves and often work around the estate. In recent years, the greatest portion of cases have been of the intensive-care type and, if not bed-ridden, these guests are largely dependent upon the care of others.

5. What is the average case load per worker and what authority establishes it?

Minimum requirements are set by the state and are as follows at the Rouse Home: (Number of nurses and aides)

INTENSIVE CARE

1 to every 8 patients in day hours.

1 to every 12 patients, evenings.

1 to every 20 patients, nights.

AMBULATORY GUESTS

1 to every 20 guests during days.

1 to every 30 guests, evenings.

1 to every 40 guests, nights.

6. What is the total amount of money available for this service?

Dragons Shade Beavers 54-51 in Section Tilt

By JOHN GANLEY

It took the Warren Dragons 18 games to look like a team, but last night all the pieces fell into place and the Dragons posted a 54-51 win over the Corry Beavers in a Section II battle.

The game was a real barn-burner from the start. To begin with the referees didn't show up. After the start of the game was delayed about 10 minutes the Junior Varsity officials consented to take the Varsity attraction. The officials who did the job were Rod Vashaw and Fran Wagner of the Ridgway Chapter. Considering the odds they did a fine job.

In the first meeting of these two teams in January at Corry the Beavers posted a 69-41 win. Last night's Beaver team seemed to lack the same zip that they showed in the first attraction. It might have been because the Dragons used a zone defense to cut off the give-and-go plays used by the Beavers.

Regardless of what it was, the Dragons won their seventh game of the season against 13 losses.

The game was nip-and-tuck for the complete first half with the Dragons coming out in the second half and opening up as much as an 11 point lead with 1:33 left in the third period. Corry didn't roll over and play dead. They battled back to within one point with 5:39 left in the game but the Dragons pulled ahead again by as much as eight and coasted home to the victory.

It was really a team effort from the starting five of Bob and Scott Hunter, Mike Hesch, Marc Segel and Dan O'Neil. Mike Hackett came off the bench in the second quarter and gave a hand both offensively and defensively. Dan Krumm did a good job in the couple minutes that he played.

The lead changed hands 11 times in the first half with Warren finally taking a 27-26 edge into the lockerroom.

Marc Segel scored all six of his points in the first period to give the Dragons their opening impetus. Pete McLaughlin and Duane Edwards each got two baskets for the Beavers in the opening period.

Warren came out on top after one period by a 12-10 margin.

In the second quarter it was a battle between Scott Hunter of the Dragons and Edwards of the Beavers. The Dragon captain scored six points in the period while Edwards tallied eight.

Corry might have gone into the intermission with a lead had they been able to capitalize on their foul shots. They didn't make any of the first four tries. On the other hand, the Dragons made good on 5 of 6 charity tosses.

In the second half it was all Warren. The Dragons came out and opened up the margin. O'Neil hit a long jumper from the corner. Bob Hunter canned a pair of foul shots and Scott Hunter and Hackett turned in three point plays while the Beavers managed only a field goal by Dave Curtis.

With 4:07 left in the third period the Dragons had a 37-28 lead. A field goal by O'Neil and one foul shot each by Scott Hunter and Hackett moved the Dragons to an 11 point bulge.

Corry cut the gap to eight at the three-quarter mark on a field goal by Edwards and two free throws by Curtis and one by Gary Blynt.

O'Neil hit a foul shot for the Dragons to send them back on top by two, 42-40.

Tom Kander hit foul shot with 5:39 left to make the score 42-41, in favor of the Dragons. This was as close as the Beavers were to get.

A foul shot and a field goal by Scott Hunter put the Dragons up by four with 4:33 left.

The lead went to six when Bob Hunter swished a pair of free throws. Another pair of charity tosses by Mike Hackett put the game out of reach at 49-41 with 2:21 left.

Corry hung in all the way. Edwards connected on four straight from the foul line while Kander hit two. In the meantime Hackett hit a field goal and Bob Hunter another foul shot and the Dragons still had a 52-47 lead with 53 seconds left.

O'Neil converted a pair of fouls to make the margin seven, 54-47. Kander and Jack Hammond found the range on jump shots to close the margin to 54-51 with eight seconds left. The Beavers didn't get their hands on the ball for the remainder of the contest.

The outstanding player on the floor was probably Duane Edwards of Corry. He would take his shots but he wasn't afraid to pass off to a teammate. Edwards and Bill Ferry of Jamestown have been about the best that the fans have had to look at this season.

Warren was out rebounded by the stronger Beavers, 53-39. From the floor Corry hit 20 of 70 for 29 per cent. The Dragons made good on 17 of 46 for 37 per cent. From the foul line the Dragons converted 20 of 30 to 11 of 21 for the visitors.

The Corry JV's posted a 35-26 win over the Dragon reserves in the preliminary. Jim Cruickshank led the little Dragons with 10 points.

Warren hosts District 9 power Bradford Tuesday night in the final home game.

Cincinnati, which will break ground in April on a new, 55,000-seat stadium, is believed to have the inside track. A bid by a Seattle group was weakened recently by defeat of a new stadium bond issue.

Phoenix and Birmingham groups also have applied. "Our meeting definitely has speeded the merger effort," Woodward said.

In response to a question, he said it was "remotely possible" that a full merger and inter-league trading might be started a year earlier than the 1970 target date.

The AFL voted Wednesday to bring its player pension plan up to the NFL level, removing the major stumbling block toward player trading.

Arnie Still In the Lead

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Arnold Palmer continued to humble the rambling Tucson National Golf Club course yesterday as he held a three-stroke lead after two rounds of play in the $60,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer chopped five strokes off par yesterday for a 34-34-67, to go with his six-under-par record of 56 the day before.

The gallery favorite from La-Trobe, Pa., caught Chuck Courtney, the early second-round leader, after only seven holes when he birdied the 390-yard, par-four hole to go eight under par.

Darkness curtailed play with some 18 golfers still on the course. These golfers will continue their rounds this morning prior to the start of the third round.

None of them threatened Palmer's lead.

Palmer, as many had expected, found the wide open 7,200-yard par 36-36-72 desert course to his liking.

"I think that driving is 90 per cent of the game on this course," said Palmer. "One of the reasons I've scored so well is that I'm driving so well."

Palmer strayed from only two fairways during Thursday's opening round and as he put it "I was never out of position at all" during Friday's second round.

Courtney, 26, of La Jolla, Calif., was one stroke behind Palmer after the first round and had to scramble to come in with a two-under 34-36-69.

Tied at seven-under 137 were John Schlee of San City, Ariz., and Roy Schlander, Bob Charles.

Schlee, rookie of the year in 1966, equaled the best round of the tournament with a six-under 66 yesterday to go with an opening day's score of 71.

Grouped at six-under par 138 were Randy Glover, Bruce Crampton and Paul Bondeson.

Youngsville Posts UAVL Win While Bears Upset Spartans

The Youngsville Eagles scored a 59-50 win at Pleasantville last night but East Forest edged Sparta to take over the lead in the Upper Allegheny Valley league.

The Bears downed Sparta at Marienville by a 70-66 count. In the other UAVL battle the West Forest Indians clipped the Tidouche Bulldogs 81-56.

A strong Eagle defense put the dampers on high-scoring Greg Holtz of the Falcons. They held him to 12 points. The only other Falcon in double figures was Ron Galmish with 12.

Youngsville was led by Ron Knapp with 13 points. Bob Chisholm and Milt Johnson each hit double figures with 12 and 10 respectively.

The Eagles had a one-point, 16-15, lead after one period. They opened the lead to seven at the half and 12, 46-36, after three periods. They coasted to the win.

Pat McClellan sparked a second period rally to lead East Forest back from an eight point deficit to defeat Sparta 70-66 and take a one game lead into the final week of the UAVL. McClellan ended the game with 25 points. Bill Nenton and Tom Kiehl had 13 and 12 for the Bears.

The Spartans put four in double figures with Bruce Allen garnering 19. Eldon Miller had 15 while Bob Troyer added 14 and Don Minnick scored 11.

The second period rally was all that the Bears needed as they were outscored in every other period by Sparta.

Tidouche kept its record clear in the UAVL as they dropped their 10th straight league game to West Forest, 81-56.

Bob Bosko of the Bulldogs was the high scorer in the game with 22 points. Teammate Bill Brown added 12.

West Forest bounced back from being one point behind after a period to take a 44-22 lead into the lockerroom. In the second half they outscored the Bulldogs 47-34.

Mike Vermillion, the Indians' 6-7 pivotman, led the winners with 14 points. Rick Hester and Bill Kiser had 13 each while Randy Custer clipped in with 12. St. Mary's scored a 66-48 homecoming win over Brockway last night to move into a first place tie with the Rovers in the AML.

The Flying Dutch came from three points behind after three quarters to rip the Rovers. They outscored the visitors 29-8 in the final period.

Don Wilhelm led the winners with 18 points while Tom Green of the Rovers scored 19.

Jamestown won its 15th straight last night but had to come from 15 points behind to down Falconer by a 61-52 score.

Jim Brunenvas hit three key baskets in the final stanza to lead the Red Raiders to the win. He was high for the winners with 16 points.

Falconer was led by Gary Card with 16 and Bob Drummond with 12.

Jamestown trailed 12-3 after a period and 25-21 at the intermission but rallied in the second half to score 40 points to 27 for the hosts.

Troopers To Play Prelim

Basketball fans are in for some "arresting" moments Monday night in the preliminary game prior to the Jamestown-Warren court contest.

Trooping into the Warren Area High School gymnasium at 6:45 p.m. to battle the Edinboro off-campus team will be State Police Troopers John D. Barnes, William C. Dudnick and Gary L. Rain of the Warren substation, who will pick up a couple of talented teammates from the cream of the local crop.

Sgt. Jack Krupey will be standing by to coach the police quintet and states they are in top condition. Krupey got wind of the game when the three troopers requested the midnight shift on Monday. "I knew then that something was going on," the coach confided.

The game was planned in the interest of public relations between sports fans and the police officers, who promise to put on a real show. The men will give autographs if requested and the Times-Mirror and Observer will publish complete casualty lists on Tuesday.

The troopers in the past, have had their own golf team but confined competition within their ranks.

Old-Timers Meet Again Tomorrow

The Warren County "Old-Timers" will meet tomorrow at 2:30 at the American Legion.

Members of the Warren and Youngville committees, as well as any other interested "old-timers" are urged to be present.

Recovering A Fumble

(c) New York Times News Service

NEW YORK—If the somewhat embarrassed voting members of the baseball writers association fumbled the ball the first time, they handled it neatly for a clean recovery the second time. In a runoff election, whose results were tabulated Thursday, they swept Red Ruffing into the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown. For the redheaded pitcher it was a close call because this was his last year of eligibility as a writers' candidate. Thankfully, though, he made it and that's all that counts.

It had looked for awhile as though a conspiracy had accidentally been devised to keep him out. A year ago the regular election was fudged up by listing as candidates some men whose eligibility had expired. Ted Williams was voted in anyway but Ruffing, the runner-up, was 18 ballots short of the required 75 per cent. So the press box tenants petitioned the Hall of Fame authorities for permission to hold an extra election this year as a fair way of righting any wrongs which may have been done by the siphoning off of votes for illegal candidates.

Such permission was granted but the writers dropped the ball again. Ruffing and Joe Medwick finished in a tie, seven votes short of the needed 75 per cent. Hence the runoff, which has slightly different rules. Again the requirement was for the appearance of the names on three-quarters of the ballots but only one man could be elected unless there was a tie. Ruffing gained 87 per cent of the votes and Medwick 81 per cent but the roughneck outfielder for the rowdy Gas House Gang of St. Louis still was shut out.

If Joe learned nothing else during a later tenure with the Brooklyn Dodgers, it was the Ebbets Field rallying cry of: "Wait 'til next year." There will be another writers' election in 1968 and this one-time batting champion, triple-crown winner and most valuable player should make it then. He had better because it will be his last season of eligibility.

Actually, there never should have been a runoff and both Red and Joe should have made it on the original voting tabulation. It's obvious that the wielders of the franchise exercised far more perceptiveness and attention to duty than they had the first time in January. Some of their votes then were disgracefully frivolous.

That's what caused such a universal outcry and such bitter condemnation of the brothers by so many writers, including this one. Most blame was leveled at the younger members of the lodge. Yet vote-counters leaked out the news that the gray-beards rather than the kids were at fault. Of the 118 ballots that failed to include Ruffing and Medwick, only 15 were cast by scribes who never saw either play. But 103 were cast by members with longer experience.

However, the furore will have one beneficial effect. At its next meeting the baseball writers association will do something about rearranging the electoral system. One proposal is that a screening committee weed out those who obviously are unqualified. It's the clutter of candidates that occasionally will trick even a conscientious voter into overlooking the obvious.

Another suggestion is that spaces for ten names on a ballot are too much. Although it is not necessary to vote for 10, too many try too hard to fill it all the way. This also leads to overlooking the obvious and accounts for so many sentimental selections of the unworthy.

Five spaces should more than suffice but only after a hard-nosed screening group puts a limit on candidates. Only a reform will save a great organization, the baseball writers association, from the embarrassing consequences of this year's unhappy election.

With the Hall of Fame business out of the way, the diamond chroniclers can turn their tender gazes southward. Just arrived are those twin harbingers of spring, Bob Holbrook's "Brightly Red Book" and Dave Grote's always reliable "Green Book," the first being the statistical goldmine for the American League and the second the companion volume for the Nationals. Both are better than ever. Let's take a quick glance.

Who hit for the cycle, a home run in each ball park last year? The Nationals correctly have the natural one in Willie Mays. But the Americans offer a surprise. It's not Frank Robinson or Harman Killebrew, the one-two leaders, but Norm Cash of the Tigers. . . . The Nationals had the most shutouts, 122, to 118. . . . Only no-hitter was by Sonny Siebert of Cleveland. . . . Five shutouts each went to Tommy John, Sam McDowell and Lou Tiant in the A.L. and to Jim Bunning, Bob Gibson, Larry Jackson, Larry Jaster, Sandy Koufax and Jim Maloney in the other.

Career shutout leaders listed are 45 by Robin Roberts (is he still around?), 44 by Whitey Ford (will he be?) and 40 by Koufax (he won't). . . . That may give the top post to Don Drysdale with 37. . . . The Americans had 26 grand slam homers, the Nationals 22. . . . The most eye-catching slammer was Tony Cloninger of the Braves with two. He is a pitcher. Will wonders never cease?

Golden Knights to Play Homecoming Game Today

Gannon College's Golden Knights, assured of its seventh straight winning season, host Fairleigh-Dickinson University today in a 3 p.m. "homecoming" contest.

But Coach John (Denny) Bayer is already warning the Knights not to be complacent even though the New Jerseyites have a most unimpressive 3-15 record.

Bayer points out that FDU plays in the tough Metropolitan Conference in the New York City area and has suffered losses to major colleges Manhattan (by 8 points), Georgetown, Seton Hall (by only 4 points), NYU and Fairfield. They have also lost to small college powers Long Island University, Cheyney State, Hofstra, and St. Peter's.

One of Fairleigh-Dickinson's wins was over Tennessee State, 67-63 in a Christmas tournament. The Knights of Gannon lost to State 76-61 and 78-52.

Gannon will carry a five game win streak into the contest today and a sixth consecutive win would give the Knights their longest win streak of the current campaign.

Gannon is again counting on versatile Cal Graham to lead the attack. The 6-3 senior from New York City has become recognized as one of the top small college players in the east and is certain to merit Little All America honors this season.

Graham has been scoring at 16.4 clip and rebounding at 11.6 per game even though the Knights are not a high-scoring team this season.

Graham has been receiving fine support from Don Ruminiski, 6-6 junior with a 10.9 scoring average and senior Ben Wiley, a 9.7 scorer. The other starters are expected to be a pair of rapid-improving freshmen, Ron Johnson, a 6-6 center, and 6-0 guard Larry Daly.

Daly now has a 9.1 scoring average and Johnson is at 8.2.

The visitors will be paced by 6-6 Reggie Foster, who has a 16.6 scoring average and a 15.5 rebounding average. He is supported by Bob Rennie at 14.6 in scoring and Joe Sherry at 13.3.

The other starters for Coach Jack Devine are expected to be 6-5 Hobart Cree and Al Paternio.

Fairleigh Dickinson met Akron University in Akron last evening before coming to Gannon.

Former Gannon basketball players will be honored at half-time of the game. A dinner for Alumni and wives follows at Dale Hall at 5:00 p.m.

Gannon College's basketball team closes out the road portion of the present campaign Tuesday night, Feb. 21st, when it travels to Wilberforce, O., to face Central State University.

The Maudraiders have a 12-8 record but meet Detroit College tonight and Cedarville on Monday, Feb. 20 before facing the Knights.

The Maudraiders are without All American Ken Wilburn this year but have 6-6 Tim Avery, 6-8 Roy Hinton and 6-5 Ed Bryant to carry the burden.

Avery just regained his eligibility and has had 19 points against Tennessee State recently.

Gannon defeated Central State 73-59 last year in the only meeting between the two clubs.

Arbitrator Asks Unions to Yield

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Arbitrator Theodore Kheel slapped the wrists of both the AAU and USITFF yesterday and asked them for "two little pieces of paper" to smooth out the latest flare-up in the nation's track and field war.

Federal Projects Are Discussed by WF&S

The joint sponsorship of Office of Economic Opportunity projects on local federal lands was discussed at a recent meeting of the Warren Field and Stream Club when Lee Kelley, supervisor of the Allegheny National Forest, outlined to the members the willingness of his office to cooperate. Projects discussed covered the various things that could be done to improve recreational facilities and establish wildlife habitat improvement areas at many levels.

Natural spring improvements, river access areas, and stream improvement drew the most attention. These were the subjects emphasized by a committee of Don Taft and Ed Bimber who had made a preliminary study of the needs and those projects that could be considered within the limits of the OEO program.

Final arrangements to implement the joint program will be finalized by the committee and the Forest Service on Feb. 27 at a meeting in Kelley's office. Other items of interest to those attending the meeting were presented as chairmen of the various committees reported.

Among these were the various resolutions of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs that required local action so that they could be presented to the semi-annual meeting of the state organization in Harrisburg later this month.

Bud Jones reported that the current membership drive was progressing and would be of successful proportions by the end of the campaign.

Jack Skinner, president, reported that he would attend the meeting at the high school concerning the conservation class as a representative of the club, which is a sponsoring organization.

The ice fishing derby held at Chapman Dam was reported a "superior" success by Tom Crozier, who gave his final report.

Crozier was also appointed chairman of a committee that will be charged with developing the club's program for the Kiwanis Sport Show. It is expected that the club's efforts this year will be directed toward presenting a program of genuine interest to all sportsmen.

In speaking of the meeting, Jack Skinner, president, stated that among the many regulars at the meeting were many others who could be considered as "new" members from the point of attendance. He said he thought this show of interest was a direct result of recent club activities.

There was no indication that either side would yield — not immediately, anyhow. So the fight goes on.

Stepping into the newest controversy which resulted in the suspension of 11 foreign collegiate athletes by the Amateur Athletic Union, Kheel's four-man Sports Arbitration Board directed the following action:

1. That the U.S. Track and Field Federation apply immediately by telegram to the AAU for retroactive sanction of the meet it staged a week ago in New York.

2. That the AAU grant this sanction—also retroactively—and lift the suspension of the athletes who were barred because they competed in the USITFF event.

Both the AAU and the USITFF, which is affiliated with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, hedged.

Kheel's expressed hope that the matter could be cleared up in time for the suspended athletes to compete Friday night in meets at New York and San Francisco appeared dim.

There was a strong chance that both would refuse to give in — citing policy restrictions — and that the war might continue unabated until April 17, when Kheel and his panel promise a binding decision.

"We haven't heard from Kheel yet," said Father Wilfred Crowley of Los Altos, Calif., president and one of the organizers of the USITFF.

"We advised Kheel by letter last Dec. 17 of our federation meet and explained who would be in it. We don't feel it necessary to ask for sanction of a purely college event, which this was.

"To do so would mean a change in our policy, and our directors don't meet again until June.

"This is purely a move by the AAU to undermine the USITFF. It is autocratic and simply a move to preserve its present track and field authority."

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, described the panel's action as a sincere move to clear up the situation but said the AAU could take no action until it heard from the USITFF.

"Even should the USITFF send us a wire requesting sanction and should we grant it," the AAU official added, "there would be no assurance that foreign athletes would be eligible.

"They must still receive clearance from their own countries and some of these countries — Ireland for one — are sore because the athletes disobeyed the rules. They may not lift the ban."

The AAU's contention is that under the rules of the International Track and Field Federation it must approve all meets in which foreign athletes take part. The USITFF insists that it will not tolerate the AAU dictating the eligibility status of properly enrolled students.

Kheel, in criticizing both bodies, said they had violated the spirit of the moratorium agreed upon June 16, 1966. The USITFF, he said, should have sought a ruling from the panel before holding the New York meet. The AAU he added, should have done likewise before suspending all those athletes.

Narrow Escape When Wind Flips Home

The home of a former Clarendon area resident was completely demolished in the windstorm which hit the Rome, N.Y. sector Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Alvino, of Clarendon RD 1, received a call from their daughter, Mrs. Mary Means, that she and her one-year-old daughter, Diana, had suffered injuries when their trailer home was picked up by the wind, flipped over and practically demolished in the severe storm.

Mrs. Means and daughter had just returned from the hospital where she was treated for a gash on the leg and the child for bruises suffered when the trailer was wrecked. Both fortunately escaped serious injuries.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd Means and daughter lived in the trailer while the former is attached to the Griffith Air Force Base there. Mrs. Means and child were alone in the trailer when the gale hit.

Mrs. Alvino told the Times-Mirror and Observer that her daughter reported the trailer was practically demolished by the storm and their escape from more serious injuries was a narrow one.

Births Down, Deaths Increase in County

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau) HARRISBURG — Births in Warren County during the first nine months of last year went on the upswing as compared with the preceding year, the State Department of Health disclosed yesterday.

A county-by-county breakdown by the department shows that in Warren County 572 births took place during the first nine months of 1966—as against the preceding year's 571 births during the same period.

The birth rate for the county declined, dropping from 16.1 per 1000 population to 15.7. The statewide average rounded out to 16.6.

May Lose New Road Near Pymatuning

MEADVILLE — Lack of public support of the Department of Forests and Waters' land acquisition plans for Pymatuning Lake recreational developments may have killed chances for the construction of a proposed East Lake Drive from the reservoir dam to Rte. 6 west of Linesville, it was disclosed here.

ADDRESSED TEACHERS FRIDAY

field State College; and Irwin Miller (right) of University of Pittsburgh. Also on program was Dan Smith, data consultant, Bell Telephone Company. (Photo by Hoff)

Minor Damage In Auto Crash

Minor damage resulted in a two-car traffic mishap which occurred at 3:52 p.m. Thursday on Poplar st.

Borough police said a car driven by Linda R. Jones, of 326 Water st., struck a parked car owned by Joyce Lou Abraham, Youngsville, as the former pulled into a parking space. Total damage was estimated at $30.

Advanced by Bache

OIL CITY — Andrew J. Harper, manager of the Oil City office of Bache & Co., has been elected as assistant vice president, it was announced by Harold L. Bache of New York, president and board chairman of the world-wide investment firm.

Excellent Speakers For Professional Day

Over 500 county teachers met at Warren Area High School yesterday, February 17, 1967, for their first professional day program since formation of the new single Warren County School District.

The program featured blue-ribbon speakers, including Dr. Fred Bryan, president of Mansfield State College; Irwin Miller of the University of Pittsburgh; and Dan Smith, data consultant of the Bell Telephone Company.

The day opened with a sprightly concert by the Warren Area High School Dance Band, under the direction of Dan Harpster. Superintendent of Warren County School District, Dr. T. K. Barratt, and Melvin Keller, president of the district board of education, brought brief greetings to the assembly, complimenting the teachers and administrators on the exceptionally fine job they had done during the trying period of complete reorganization in one school district.

"The Space Age" was the topic of Dr. Fred Bryan's talk. The Mansfield State College President insists we can't teach as we used to teach, because young people who come to teachers today are far smarter than ever before. Also adults expect much more of schools today than even a decade ago. Teaching cannot remain static, because we are living in a period of rapid change in a complex society.

"What do we do about it?" queried Bryan. He summed it up by showing we must have more and better education, greater respect for mankind, and above all, faith in God. There must, he observes, be excellence in education to fit today's urgent needs.

Professor Irwin Miller, of University of Pittsburgh, spoke on "Challenging the Creativity of Today's Pupil for the World of Tomorrow." He believes teachers today, to develop creative minds in their students, must be more creative themselves in their teaching. The answer is not conforming and teaching others to be conformists. "Industry and education alike are looking for people who can create and innovate," he declared. This, he observes, takes a great deal more effort than being tradition-bound.

Too often the teacher is more interested in a youngster's being courteous and considerate, than his being courageous. It takes great courage to be creative. The individual who comes up with a new idea is a minority of one, until it is accepted—he has to fight for his idea.

"High School Tomorrow—Today" was the theme developed by Dan Smith, data consultant of the Bell Telephone Company. If anyone harbored any doubts that we are in the computer age, a demonstration of an actual computer, connected with a Bell Telephone computer data training center in Coopers-town, N.Y., dispelled them. The use of computers is called "Computer assisted instruction," Smith explained. It is possible for as many as twenty different students to receive computerized instruction simultaneously, each at his own individual rate.

To illustrate how programmed teaching by the aid of computers has become necessary in today's education, Smith observed that scholars estimate the first time the world's available information was doubled was around the year 1700. The second time was about 1900, the third 1950, and the most recent 1960. The current rate is doubling the world's information every ten years. By 1970 the rate will be every five years. During the next 100 years automation promises to relieve men of 98 per cent of the time and labor to produce necessary goods and services. The resulting free time, many believe, will be taken up in continuing education, and in applying the fund of human knowledge available, for mankind's progress.

Next Tuesday, February 21, Dan Smith will conduct a day-long demonstration of the computer as applied as a high school teaching aid.

Gibson, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Philadelphia.

The 1966 employment survey will supplement questions on employment and unemployment asked each month by Bureau enumerators for the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The annual survey questions will be aimed at finding out the number of weeks worked during the year, the amount of time lost because of unemployment and other reasons, and the principal job held during the year by each person in sample households.

All information given to Census interviewers will be kept confidential and may be used only for statistical purposes, Director Gibson said.

Sylvania Will Take Over New Jersey Company

NEW YORK — General Telephone & Electronics Corporation announced yesterday that its subsidiary, Sylvania Electric Products Inc., has been negotiating to acquire the assets of the Wilbur B. Driver Company of Newark, N.J., and its subsidiaries, manufacturers of metallurgical products and materials.

The negotiations have resulted in a proposal to issue 1.1 million shares of GT&E common stock to the Driver Company for that company's assets. The Driver stock is not listed on a stock exchange.

This proposal, which has been discussed between Sylvania and Robert O. Driver, president and majority stockholder of the Driver Company, will be submitted to the GT&E and Driver Boards of Directors for their approval. At the GT&E annual meeting on April 19, the company's shareholders will be asked to approve an increase in the number of authorized common stock of GT&E. This approval will be a prerequisite for the Driver transaction.

Mr. Driver said consolidated sales for the Driver Company and subsidiaries in 1966 are estimated at $45 million, compared with $33 million for 1965.

Gene K. Beare, President of Sylvania, said that Driver's business "perfectly complements, but does not overlap, Sylvania's activities in such areas as alloys, metal products and materials, and small components for the electrical, electronics, and many other industries. Sylvania's Parts Division and Chemical & Metallurgical Division are those operations most closely related to the Driver activities." Gerald L. Moran, Sylvania Senior Vice President, is the officer responsible for those two divisions.

Third Home Burns In Crawford Area

MEADVILLE — The third fire within a week destroyed another home near Tillotson Corners, Bloomfield Township, early Thursday morning.

Arson is not suspected in the fires, a Bloomfield volunteer fireman said.

Fire destroyed the Gerald Blakeslee home at 4:45 a.m. Winds of gale proportion whipped the blaze out of control. Firemen concentrated on the garage and other surrounding structures which were threatened for a time.

Candidate For Council

BRADFORD — Mrs. Willard Cline has announced her candidacy for Bradford city council at the May 16th primary on the Republican ticket.

Lopez, Fran McElwain, Martha Jackson and Zelma Colvin.

Receiving chevrons were Dorothy Cleveland, Lois Gellotte, Harriet Alexander, Eva Goodwin, Cecil Hunter, Janet Kay, Elizabeth Wendelboe, Irene Ahlgren, Lucy McClusky and Dot Fleming.

$3 Million Rate Slash By Bell Co.

"The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania recently filed revised tariffs with the Public Utility Commission that would give thousands of customers across the state net annual savings of over $3,500,000," said R. C. Dicks, local manager.

The filing marked the fourth major phone rate reduction in less than three years. The cut became effective February 7, 1967, following discussions between the company and P.U.C.

In an announcement released with the filing, the company noted that the reductions covered a wide variety of equipment and services for both residence and business customers.

The largest single item, in terms of new savings and customers affected, applies to residence extensions linked to main telephone lines. The monthly charge for this service has been reduced by 10 cents. (For most subscribers, the cut brings the monthly charge for an extension to 90 cents.) Thus, the bills of $1,156,000 residence customers will reflect net annual savings of 1,620,000.

A second major item in the filing applies to supplemental equipment, such as speakerphones, card dialers, bell chimes, illuminated dial telephone sets, lamp indicators and the princess set. Of these, the biggest net savings—$59,000—would apply to the princess set, with the monthly rate being dropped from 65 cents to 50 cents for 267,000 customers. At the same time, the reduction for the supplemental equipment amounts to $1,182,000 and affects 616,360 residence and business customers.

Kerlin Joins Area Chambers At Meadville

Col. Henry Kerlin, executive vice president of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, met Wednesday with officials of the 13 Northwestern Pennsylvania chambers.

At the session at the David Mead Inn, Meadville, Kerlin said the group discussed plans for the annual Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce Executives Association convention to be held at the Hotel Conneaut, Conneaut Lake Park June 28-30. The Meadville area chamber will be host.

Also discussed were highway construction projects and future highway plans for the region.

F. C. Stewart, managing director of the Meadville Area Chamber of Commerce was in charge of the Wednesday meeting.

In addition to Kerlin, executives were present from Corry, Erie, Titusville, Oil City, Mercer, New Castle, Greenville, Franklin, Bradford, Beaver Falls and Kittanning.

Robert Eaton, executive director of the Oil City chamber, is currently president of the state organization.

The group plans to meet next on April 18 in Sharon.

Two Corry Men Injured When Car Hits Pole

MAYVILLE, N. Y. — Two Corry men were injured when their car struck a telephone pole on the Panama-Bear Lake rd., about 300 feet from the Pennsylvania line, early yesterday.

The injured are Tex McCray, 62 and Charles Dooley, 39, both of the Phoenix Hotel, Corry. McCray is in satisfactory condition with body bruises.

Corry Hospital officials said Dooley, who suffered fractured ribs, is in fair condition and will be transferred to St. Vincent Hospital in Erie.

According to Chautauque County sheriff's deputies, McCray apparently fell asleep at the wheel of the car about two and a half miles north of Bear Lake and the car went off the right side of the road into a tree.

LET'S FORGET ALL THE SNOW, wind and cold, and enjoy an afternoon of beautiful flowers, said a note I received from Mrs. Charles Tranter who was writing of the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Warren Garden Club. The meeting — which will take place in Mrs. Robert Voigt's greenhouse — amidst surroundings the very essence of spring — at the Voigt residence, 204 Sixth Avenue — will feature Mrs. Sherman Bisson as the speaker. Mrs. Bisson will discuss how to raise prize-winning African Violets, and, it's just possible, Mrs. Voigt may offer a few hints on how to build a greenhouse, too. There are other items of interest to be discussed. But all will not be entirely concerned with the art of horticulture, Mrs. Frank Perrin and her committee will serve refreshments. So, Garden Club members, mark this interesting meeting down for next Tuesday at 1:15.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am not a talkative person, in fact I am on the quiet side, but my mother-in-law hasn't heard one word I have said in the past several years. The minute she sees me she turns stone deaf. Have you ever heard of such a thing? When I speak to her and she doesn't answer it is very embarrassing. I am the only one in the family who has this trouble. She hears everyone else just fine. Do you think she is trying to tell me something? — PUZZLED AND MUZZLED

DEAR P AND M: I would not attempt to evaluate your mother-in-law's hearing but I suspect she has tuned you out figuratively as well as literally.

Try not to show any evidence of exasperation. Continue to include her in the conversations. Your refusal to become irritated will speak so loudly for YOU that even the deafest doorman will hear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You wanted to hear "the other side" of the story from secretaries who have traveled with their bosses. Here's mine, and I hope you print it.

In spite of what you say, Ann Landers, a dictating machine cannot take the place of an on-the-spot secretary. Most work cannot wait until after the trip.

Traveling with the boss may sound glamorous but a traveling secretary does not sit in the sun all day and dance all night. While the boss is golfing and swimming with his business associates, the secretary is on the phone making travel changes, transcribing notes, typing and wishing she were back in the office.

So, to the wives who are wondering what goes on when her husband takes his secretary on a trip, I can tell you. Nothing, Dearie — absolutely nothing — except hard work, that is. — EX-FLEDGLING

DEAR EX: Oliver Wendell Holmes once wrote, "no generalization is worth a damn—including this one." And I agree with the great jurist. To assume that there is hanky panky whenever a boss takes his secretary on a trip is foolish. It would be equally foolish to assume that every such trip is strictly business. It all depends on the people involved—especially the secretary.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband died eight years ago and left me with two wonderful sons. One boy is now 11, the other is 13. We have always had a good relationship and I am very proud of my boys.

Six months ago I married a man who has a 14-year-old son. This boy is very bright but he has been spoiled by an aunt and a grandmother who took him when his mother died.

The problem is as follows: My sons are accustomed to helping me with the housework and the dishes. I have always held an outside job and I still do. My stepson has never done any housework and his father feels he shouldn't do it now. They claim it is silly stuff. Now my own sons are balking and they say, "if Bill doesn't do it why should we?"

I would like your ideas on how to resolve this problem. — MOTHER OF THREE

DEAR MOTHER: The notion that housework is silly stuff is nonsense. If a mother needs a lift, her children should provide it, willingly and cheerfully. This goes for boy children as well as girl children. And I'm not averse to husbands pitching in when a wife works outside the home.

Missionary At Youngsville

The Reverend Eugene Westley, an evangelistic missionary assigned by the Division of World Mission of The Evangelical United Brethren Church to the Sudan United Mission in Nigeria, West Africa, will be the guest speaker in the Youngsville First E.U.B. Church tomorrow at 7 p. m.

The Reverend Westley was graduated from Indiana Central College in Indianapolis and received his B.D. degree from United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio, in 1954. During the same year he was first appointed to service in Nigeria and was sent to England for missionary orientation studies.

Reverend and Mrs. Westley have served in many capacities during their years of service: evangelism, training of evangelists, education, literacy work and medical and health services. During the term just ended, Mr. Westley worked with the students at the Banyam training center and in the past year as the evangelist at the Zinna station. The Westleys have three children, a son and two daughters.

Members and friends of the Youngsville First E.U.B. Church are invited to attend this service. The Reverend Spurgeon Withrow is the pastor of the church.

CLASS OF '57 COMMITTEE MEETS

Wednesday night members of Warren High School, Class of 1957, gathered to address questionnaires to classmates for information which will be printed in their "Ten-Year" Yearbook. Plans are in progress for the ten-year reunion of the class on July 29, at the Jackson Valley Country Club. There is to be a social mixer followed by dinner; a class picture will be taken also. In the picture above, starting at the bottom and proceeding clockwise are: Ann Putnam, general chairman, and committee members, Sue Yeagle Reynolds, Bob Saunders, Bill McKinstry, John Berdine, Gladys Mack Smith, Marilyn Johanson Lodine, and Marga Morrison Fox. Much time has been spent by the committee in trying to find the present addresses of classmates who no longer live in this area. The next meeting will be on March 29, when work on the yearbook itself will be started.

Hints From Heloise

Beauty Operators Tip

DEAR HELOISE

Have you ever been in a hurry and smeared your fresh fingernail polish?

Now don't spread another coat of polish over the smear that would make it worse.

Instead, dip your polish brush in a small amount of polish remover and go over your fingernail as if you were applying another coat of polish.

Your nail will look beautiful again and you will have no more built-up polish.

Beauty Operator

Josie Knight

I tried Josie's idea and it works.

Do not clean the brush and dip it in polish remover. Take your brush out of your polish and wipe it on the side of the bottle, dip it in the remover and then paint away on the smeared place.

You will have just enough polish remover on the brush to dissolve and spread the polish, but not remove it.

And thanks, Heloise. You're great to teach us this one.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE

I just could not keep my davenport and chair from sliding against the wall.

I happened to have a thin sheet of foam rubber. So I cut small pieces and placed one piece under each back leg and sure enough they don't scoot any more.

Mrs. M. B.

DEAR HELOISE

To touch up corners of walls where paint is nicked.

I mixed a few drops of yellow food coloring with a little white water paint to match my cream walls.

I dipped my finger in the paint and ran it down the corner.

A paint brush makes streaks but not your finger.

Marcia Brown

DEAR HELOISE

Anyone using both twin and full sheets will find this help full.

I recently bought one of those linen ink marker pens and labeled all corners on my fitted sheets both twin and full.

Now I can see the size at a glance without opening the sheet up to find the mark.

Marriage Vows Pledged In St. Joseph Church

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT WILLIAM LARSON
(Photo by Mahan)

Sylvia Pace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno A. Pace of 27 Walnut street, and Robert William Larson pledged their wedding vows during a recent Nuptial Mass at St. Joseph Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Larson of 10 N. Carver street.

The Rev. Father Norman A. Smith read the double ring wedding rites and was the celebrant of the Mass. Mrs. Thomas Donnelly was at the organ and altar decorations included two baskets of white mums.

The bride wore a gown of white silk crepe with long tapering sleeves and Chantilly lace bolero. Secured by two lace bows at the back of the bolero, was a graceful sweeping train of the lace. A handmade crown of lace, crystals and simulated pearls secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white tea roses, mums and lilies-of-the-valley.

The sister of the bride, Miss Antoinette Pace, was her only attendant. She wore a formal length gown of emerald green chiffon over silk taffeta and a matching velvet princess seed pearl crown which secured a circular veil. Her flowers were emerald green and pale blue mums with green silk streamers.

Best man was William Sorvelli and ushers were Jack Larson and Bern Larson, brothers of the groom. Michael Vincent Peck, nephew of the bride, from Holgate, Ohio, was the ring-bearer.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of green lace with matching crepe and a corsage of yellow roses. Her accessories were also of green. The mother of the groom selected a blue lace dress with crepe, matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

For the reception which followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall, aides were Mrs. Mary Spoto, Miss Mary Elizabeth Allen, Mrs. Robert Highhouse, Miss Becky Sheckler, Miss Elaine Starnier, and Miss Mary Lou Mancuso, who cut the wedding cake.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Carol Larson, Mrs. Bern Larson, Mrs. Clayton Larson, Mrs. Dora Cicchini, Mrs. Raffaella Peck, Miss Toni Pace, Miss Mary Peterson, Miss Judy Raymond, Miss Karen Aumer.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1967:
(ARIES)—MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 — Glowing ideas about what you would like to do? Better stop to consider all factors before going off on tangents. This will be a day in which to emphasize good judgment, realism. (TAURUS)—APRIL 21 to MAY 21 — A day of mixed influences. You can achieve through your winning personality and ever enthusiastic attitude toward the better things in life.
(GEMINI)—MAY 22 to JUNE 21—Wait for results without becoming anxious. Don't anticipate difficulty and you will encounter less. Work conscientiously and your perseverance will be rewarded.
(CANCER)—JUNE 22 to JULY 23 — Avoid tendencies toward indifference and cantankerousness. Minor items could turn things upside down if not handled well. Give a little, and help others by being understanding.
(LEO)—JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 — If work is on the docket, take it in happy stride. If it is time for relaxing, use hours sensibly, so as not to incur difficulties, "headaches" in the future.
(VIRGO)—AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23—Be careful in your approaches. Also, be enthusiastic about all endeavors or your efforts may not impress, may not produce the results for which you aim.
(LIBRA)—SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 — Your perception and intuition should be keen now. Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost—which can be substantial. Good news in the offing.

(SCORPIO)—OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 — Emphasize your diligence and innate sense of humor now. Handle all tasks and obligations serenely and give whatever "extra" you can. It will pay eventually.
(SAGITTARIUS)—NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21—Even though you normally keep a weather eye open for treacherous "winds" and corners to be turned, do not anticipate trouble now, or you will make it difficult for the good news to come your way. Some fine offerings indicated.
(CAPRICORN)—DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 — Intrigue may divert you and upset your schedule, but you need not let it. Say what you mean and accept others at their word, too.
(AQUARIUS)—JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19—Especially favored now: Home and business improvements, organizational activities, social functions. Pursue your objectives with confidence and serenity.
(PISCES)—FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20—Some unexpected situations indicated, but you can keep day going generally smoothly with a little extra effort. Reflect upon what the future COULD hold and work toward that end.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with many fine qualities and have the potential for top success in a well-run, enthusiastic lifetime. You could become an outstanding musician, writer, diplomat, scientist or educator. You have a natural instinct for putting things together in an attractive manner. You are cautious in spending, but not penurious.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

DEPRESSED MOTHER SYNDROME

The health of the mother may be reflected in that of her child. Dr. Stuart Carne of Hammersmith, England, has witnessed more than 40 instances in which a depression in the mother is followed by feeding difficulties in her child. When the mother's condition is treated successfully, the baby gets well.
Most of these children vomit shortly after eating. The parents usually blame too little or too much food, an unsuitable milk mixture, bad posture in holding the baby when nursing, or gas. When vomiting continues, X-rays are suggested. However, they are negative when maternal depression is responsible for the feeding difficulties.
Dr. Carne found that babies who had been vomiting improved rapidly when hospitalized and separated from their mothers most of the time. In addition he noticed that many of these women had other emotional problems. The cause became clear when he was consulted by the parents of a 9-month-old boy. The tyke began to vomit almost as soon as the mother was discharged from the hospital. Dr. Carne learned that she was very depressed and could not sleep because the tyke kept her awake. The infant did not cry but she still could not sleep. Another sign of depression was her fear that something would happen to her baby.
An anti-depressive drug was prescribed and within a short period of time, both mother and child were much better. Most of the cases seen by Dr. Carne follow a similar pattern. The mother is depressed before or after childbirth. The child begins to vomit shortly after returning home.
Depression after childbirth is fairly common. We do not know how often the infant develops gastrointestinal symptoms, but when the combination exists and the baby is otherwise healthy, nothing need be done for the infant, except to treat the mother.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Humor In Taxes

It is rare that a taxpayer sympathizes with IRS's problems to the extent of this response to an inquiry:
"I am extremely sorry I forgot to attach my W-2 statement. I think the least I can do is buy you a bottle of aspirin."

WEEK'S PREVIEW

Routine viewing will be disturbed very little during the coming week although there are a few specials to attract extra attention. On Sunday afternoon NBC will have a special 90-minute Meet the Press edition during which Nicholas Katzenbach, chairman of the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice, and five commission members will be interviewed by a panel of eminent newsmen.

NBC also has two other specials for Sunday, an NBC Experiment in Television original drama, "Losers Weepers" in the afternoon and a news special on "Indonesia: The Troubled Victory" early Sunday evening. This network's only other contribution will be a Perry Como special Wednesday night.

CBS has an Andy Griffith music and comedy special Tuesday night and a New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert Thursday evening. Two CBS regular programs will treat interesting subjects, the 21st Century series Sunday night will predict bold ideas in mass transportation in the year 2001 (only 34 years hence) and the CBS news report Tuesday night will answer a question I asked a while ago, "What Happened to Alf Landen?"

ABC offers only one variation, "The Songmakers" on Friday night, an analysis of today's popular music scene.

Winter outdoor enthusiasts might get a kick from a Ch. 4 program Monday night, "Buffalo's Pleasin' Freezin' Season," showing winter activities in the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area.

On the sports scene, the regularly scheduled events are varied little. CBS Sports Spectacular Sunday has some indoor tennis championships and if you happen to receive WJET, Ch. 24 out of Erie you can catch the NBA game between the Philadelphia 76ers and St. Louis Hawks Sunday afternoon.

WPSX-TV, Ch. 3 presents "The Beggar's Opera" Monday at 9:30 p.m. and has revised its early Tuesday and Wednesday evening schedules to offer the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings. The Experiment series on Tuesday at 8 p.m. has a fascinating subject, "Secret of the White Cell" or how the white cells in your blood keep you alive.

Play of the Week Wednesday night is a folk-drama, "The Dybbuk," and Friday night's Net Playhouse is "The Play of Daniel. The Great Decisions series Friday night examines "Vietnam: What Price Peace?"

4th NETWORK OFFERING

Among the 125 stations across the U.S. that will be carrying the New Las Vegas Show from the Overmyer Network (being referred to by the press and the industry as the fourth network) is WBEN-TV, Ch. 4, Buffalo. Ch. 4 will drop its late night movies Monday through Friday to carry the two-hour show starting Monday, April 3.

The program will have a regular host (yet to be announced) and a visiting co-host. The Overmyer network has seven-year contracts with the Nevada Resort Assoc. and ten major hotels for exclusive pick-up of entertainment and other features from their show rooms, lounges, dining rooms, swimming pools and golf courses.

In addition, the show will do complete remotes from such places as Hoover Dam, Lake Mead, nearby ranches, Nellis Air Force Base, the "Strip" or the Las Vegas Convention Center. The format idea of the Las Vegas Show is to keep it moving and doing... moving from place to place and its guests doing things besides talking.

Sounds like stiff competition for the remaining late night movies and... Johnny Carson.

PEOPLE & PROGRAMS

ABC's DAYTIME SCHEDULE undergoes some changes, come April 3. Three new shows will be introduced, Dateline Hollywood, One in a Million, and The Fugitive, and two time changes will involve Dark Shadows and The Dating Game.

THE WEEK OF MARCH 5 will bring two musical specials on ABC. They are "Porgy and Bess" and "Brigadoon."

LOSERS WEEPERS, the Harry Dolan play which inaugurates the NBC Experiment in Television series Sunday, will be published in May as part of Budd Schulberg's anthology "From the Ashes: the Voices of Watts."

FRONTIERS OF FAITH begins a four-part series Sunday March 5 on NBC-TV. It examines the parallels between liturgical traditions of the various faiths. The first program compares the origin of Passover and the birth of Israel to Easter and the birth of the Church.

THE FIRST ASTROJET GOLF CLASSIC, with a roster of great football and baseball names, will be seen in late spring on WFBG-TV, Ch. 10, a Triangle Station.

NEW YORK STATE PLANS a state-financed television network of five stations to start operations next fall.

OUR WORLD is the title of the first global telecast, a two-hour documentary, being produced jointly by at least 17 nations and scheduled to be seen on NET stations Sunday, June 25. Transmissions will be via five satellites, Early Bird over the Atlantic, Lani Bird over the Pacific, two Soviet satellites and a new satellite over the South Atlantic.

EVEN THE KIDS

The appetites even of the very young can become satiated with television program repeats. A friend tells of receiving a letter from his little granddaughters who wrote: "We have been watching 'The Wizard of Oz.' We've been watching it for years."

Lenten Meditation

By FREDERICK B. HAER
Pastor, First Lutheran Church
"Were you there when they crucified my Lord?" Is it strange that this century-old negro spiritual title captures our imagination? Hardly so, when each succeeding generation since Calvary is subjected to scholarly answers to some form of the question, "Who was there?" The question appears in various forms: "Who killed Jesus? Was one religious group responsible, or many? Was the Roman Empire? The human race? Who was there?"

Who was really there? Christians have it on the most reliable authority that GOD WAS THERE. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son . . . Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit . . . God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself . . ." (From John 3 and 17, and II Corinthians 5).

OTHERS WERE THERE. "Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus . . . and led him away to crucify him . . . And the people stood by, watching . . . The rulers scoffed at him . . . The soldiers also mocked him . . . And all the multitudes who assembled to see the sight, when they saw what had taken place, returned home beating their breasts . . ." (From Luke 23, Matthew 27).

WERE YOU THERE? Was it "they" or, "we"? "But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities . . . All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all." (Isaiah 53:5 and 6). None is righteous, no, not one . . . (Romans 3:10). As a member of the human race have I not gone astray? Am I righteous — without sin? Christ died for all, including me! I WAS THERE!

Are you there yet today? Is Jesus Christ still being crucified? Do we continue to crucify Him anew through slander, bigotry, prejudice and self-praise? What about the sin of indifference — yours and mine? Indifference toward fellow-Americans in minority groups? Does our comfortable adjustment to militarism and the crippling effects of discrimination have anything to do with the crucifixion of our Lord? And what about our poverty — poverty of concern for people across the street and around the world who have not heard that God loves and cares and saves?

Do we continue the crucifixion when our inhumanity supersedes our humanity? Or when we try to get rid of Jesus Christ in order to enthrone the idols of self, sex, status symbols and human ingenuity? Is not our presence at Calvary, and our part in present-day crucifixion, reflected in the prejudice which created the tragedies of modern race riots? Yes, and what about some of the evils and brokenness of our beloved town, Warren? Can our living witness of His presence, love and forgiveness be heard above the shouts of those who cry, "Crucify Him. Away with goodness and purity and justice!" In turning people away without needed love, understanding and help, are we not turning Jesus away? Are we not crucifying Him? He said, "Truly I say to you, as you did it not to one of the least of these, you did it not to me."

But there is a message for all who were there. A great gift is offered every guilty sinner at the Cross. It is forgiveness. And more! It is the gift of absolution. The glory and uniqueness of the gospel lie in the power of Jesus Christ to make men new, to free them not just of guilt feelings, but of guilt! "Blessed is the man to whom the Lord imparts no iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no deceit . . . I said 'I will confess my transgressions to the Lord'; Then thou didst forgive the guilt of my sin." (From Psalm 32). It is the gospel of acquittal. "Then as one man's trespass led to condemnation for all men, so one man's act of righteousness leads to acquittal of life for all men." (From Romans 5).

There is the Good News for every person who has a sense of guilt. God forgives! God absolves. He welcomes the penitent sinner. He reconciles and restores. Here is the gospel of the new beginning, of the second chance. It is the Good News that he has redeemed me, bought me, freed me; in order that I might be his own, live under him, and serve him!

The Lenten season affords all who are willing to avail themselves of its privileges some extra time for realization that God's will is that all should cease living for themselves and should begin to live for Him who for their sake, died and was raised to life. May yours be a good Lent!

Rev. Frederick B. Haer

Akeley Area News Letter

By Mrs. Paul Lindell

Mrs. Cleora Tuller of Frewsburg demonstrated making cake decorations with marshmallow flowers at the Akeley Service club meeting held at the home of Mrs. Howard Sopher. Mrs. Ernest Van Cise presided at the meeting and heard reports of several recent projects. Several thank-yous were also received.

Announcement was made that the group will meet at the Cancer Society work room in Warren on Feb. 27. All members are urged to attend and anyone needing a ride is asked to contact the president. It is planned to leave at 7:30 p.m. Permission has been granted by the land owner and supervisors for the group to have a work bee, to clean up the little cemetery at the corner of Kiantone and the State road. Anyone interested in helping with the project contact Mrs. Van Cise or Mrs. Francis Lewis. Also, if anyone knows the name of this cemetery or anything about it, the information will be gladly received by the group.

To conclude, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Sopher, Mrs. Harold Lindsey, and Mrs. Clarence Carlson Jr.

ASME Honors Area Engineer, Meets Feb. 22

At its February meeting, to be held Wednesday, February 22, at the Blue Manor Restaurant, Warren, the Warren-Jamestown Subsection of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will present an outstanding program in observance of National Engineer's Week. In addition to honoring one of its members, Professor Walton Forstall of Carnegie Institute of Technology and Vice President of ASME will present the new charter to the Warren-Jamestown membership.

Joseph H. DeFrees, President of the Allegheny Valve Company has been promoted to the grade of Fellow by the council of the society. This promotion can be achieved only on the nomination by his contemporaries within the society. To be eligible the member "shall be an engineer who shall have acknowledged engineering attainments, twenty-five years of active practice in the profession of engineering, and shall have been thirteen years in the grade of Member."

Mr. DeFrees has devoted the major part of his engineering career to the design and fabrication of equipment for the economical and safe transportation of flammable liquids and other hazardous materials. A certificate of his new status within the society will be presented to Mr. DeFrees during the dinner.

In keeping with the spirit of National Engineer's Week, Professor Walton Forstall will talk on "Mechanical Engineering Education — Restless and Searching." Professor Walton Forstall has had a long and varied career in both education and industry and his talk should be of interest to all engineers in the area. He will discuss the changes in engineering education that have taken place over the years and a look into the future. The talk will be illustrated with slides.

All engineers and other individuals having an interest in the advancement of engineering within the Warren-Jamestown area are invited to attend. Reservations can be made by calling 563-7522 Extension 218 in Warren and 485-1121 Extension 213 in Jamestown.

McClelland Hits Court On Rulings

ERIE — Erie County Common Pleas Court Judge-designate Lindley R. McClelland said Thursday the U. S. Supreme Court "has made it necessary for lawyers to babysit with criminals."

McClelland said there has been about a 53 per cent increase in the crime rate in the last four years with the rate increasing about six times as fast as the population.

In his talk to members of the Erie Exchange Club, the jurist slammed the nation's highest court as the "self-appointed supreme rulers" of the country. McClelland said—"The Supreme Court has now wrought an absolute revolution" in four areas of justice.

He said the "revolution" covered search and seizure, right to counsel, trial publicity and confessions.

About the recent rulings regarding a defendant's right to counsel, the judge said, "The court is saying criminals are entitled to a lawyer from the cradle to the grave."

Regarding the obtaining of confessions, McClelland accused the high court of "exalting form over substance" in ruling that each defendant must immediately upon arrest be notified of three rights.

Call Meetings in Forest County to Map Programs

Three separate Community Action meetings are scheduled in the Forest County area which will afford residents an opportunity not only to consider and voice their primary community needs but to organize for community involvement as well.

These meetings, under the sponsorship of the Warren-Forest Counties Economic Opportunity Council, Inc., will be held in East Hickory, Monaca, and Marienville. The meetings are open to all, the public in general, as well as civic groups, charitable, religious and service organizations.

The Council's Executive Director, Richard M. Brown, explained Community Action as "neighbors working with neighbors for the betterment of the community" and that "where one person can often only hope, a group of individuals can accomplish much."

Much help is available and it is the job of the Economic Opportunity Council to seek funds on the local, state and federal level for the programs formulated and submitted to the Council by the local Community Action groups.

Committees must rate their needs as far as priority and inform the Council accordingly, for the Council has no authority to act until notified of such local community interest.

The first Community Action meeting is scheduled for Monday, February 20, at the Tiomesta High School.

The West Hickory, East Hickory and Endeavor areas will meet on Tuesday, February 21, at the East Hickory Grade School; and the third meeting will be held in Marienville at the High School Library on Wednesday, February 22.

All meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m.
